

Abstract

A set of surgical instrument for use with expandable spinal implants. The set of instruments includes box chisels designed to prepare a site for implant placement. The set of instruments also includes inserter/expander instruments configured to place and expand an implant at the site. The set of instrument further includes assembling/collapsing instruments configured to assemble an implant, and collapse or reduce the height of an expanded implant.

5